Award Winning Nonfiction Video Producer, Writer, YouTube & Social Video Strategist, Science Communicator, Animator, Nonprofit Arts Administrator & Other Duties as Needed.

Summary

I'm a Washington, DC based filmmaker. My nonfiction and experimental work has screened at film festivals around the world, most of which are listed on my website, if you're into that sort of thing. Currently a Supervising Producer at American Chemical Society, working on the PBS Digital Studios series Reactions along with other ACS video products. Previously done a lot of different things, most of which revolved around video production, science, the arts, and paying off student loans.

Supervising Producer

2024–Present

American Chemical Society

Producing the PBS Digital Studios series Reactions. Pitching, writing, directing, producing, shooting, editing, animating, occasionally hosting. Includes overseeing freelance producers, writers, and hosts. Also providing creative direction, analytics, and strategy for Reactions and other American Chemical Society Productions video series. Led the now 11-year-old channel to its two most successful years, more than doubling previous bests for views, watch time, and subscribers.

Senior Producer

2019–2024

American Chemical Society

Focused only on Reactions, I helped lead a total channel rebrand and relaunch in early 2020. Also explored, planned, and launched our YouTube Shorts content in early 2023.

Video Editor & Animator

2018–2019

Laundry Service

In-house video editor and animator for a social media agency, also worked as a production generalist for shoots and contributed to creative ideation. Most of my work was for T-Mobile social channels, including Instagram, Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn. Did so much vertical video that 16:9 felt bizarre and clunky.

Projects Director

2016–2018

One Reel

Led production for several projects and launched One Reel's Pianos In The Parks program. Booked artists, secured park locations, worked with sponsoring partners, handled day-of production for weekly concert events. Also worked on the Career Day series, Mayor's Arts Awards, and Bumbershoot. Worked closely with the Executive Director and the One Reel Board to create and execute One Reel's business plan. Created video content for Bumbershoot.

Education

MFA, Science and Natural History Filmmaking, Montana State University, 2009
BS, Biology, Ecology Specialization, Central Washington University, 2006
